SESSION SUMMARY

VIEWER #: 032
DATE: 26 OCTOBER 1988
START TIME: 0915L
END TIME: 1000L

Site is an object. This object is metallic and possesses the ability for extremely rapid movement. The object is cylindrical and has steering or wing like surfaces (see sketch, page 4 and 10). These surfaces may or may not be steering -- they do however perform a function that is critical to the object. When the object is viewed along what appears to be the long axis, there is a center section with sections blossoming from it (see sketch, page 7 and 11).

This object is long, cylindrical and is hollow (see sketch, page 9). The hollow portions are cubical or compartmented and house people. The colors perceivable on the object are silver (metallic) black and reds. Other aspects of the object are aerodynamic, curved, light, long and cramped. ✓

The people inside the object are working, studying, listening and learning. They have a sense of mission which is guarded and has scientific or military aspects to it. The people sense danger, they are patient but anxious and can be annoyed. These people live in this object and consider themselves cramped. NO

This object is being tracked, followed, watched and controlled from some other location. Inside the object there are numerous cables, panels, lights and devices (AOL transmitters). This object has been performing it's mission for a long time; it is durable and the people are enduring. NO
